All IT engineers are not termed as IT engineers because of programming skills. There are various skill sets in IT domain where system integration, implementation, configuration, support and other allied activities are required. Gautam is a resource whose skills needs to be honed with proper training and knowledge, which needs to be imparted or made available with rightful work exposure.

Little thank for recognizing my little effort. BTW, firewall activity clocked 73 man hours at my end.

Good job, Gautam. No need to write complete step by step details. We are sure that learning are plenty at your end but fruits will be seen in days to come.
We trust that intended objectives of firewalls have matched our expectations.
Kunduji, start monitoring now we have the gun!!
